Kaiser Permanente’s Educational Theatre (ET) has served California schools with health education programs since 1986. ET inspires children, teens, and adults to make informed decisions about their health and build stronger communities.

For more information about booking our programs for your school, please visit our website:

www.kp.org

At Kaiser Permanente, we’re committed to health. That means not only delivering great health care but also creating communities where people can be healthy in the places they live, learn, work, and play. This is especially important in schools, where better health boosts educational success and better lifelong health.

Kaiser Permanente’s Educational Theatre (ET) has served California schools with health education programs since 1986. ET inspires children, teens, and adults to make informed decisions about their health and build stronger communities.

For more information about booking our programs for your school, please visit our website:

Southern CA
Northern CA

Thriving Schools brings together Kaiser Permanente’s extensive health management expertise and our partnerships with educational institutions and organizations working on behalf of school health to support schools in becoming a beacon of health in their community.

Thriving Schools Website