Moo Moo’s Incredible Journey of Courage

Once there was a cow named Moo Moo who always wanted to travel around the world. He was an adventurous and curious cow. So one day he boarded Cow Airlines and set off on his journey. Moo Moo visited countless countries and collected numerous stamps on his passport. He journeyed through different countries like Milk-Jugpan, Cow-wan, Moo-lippines, Calf-nada, and Heiferica. His favorite country was Cow-India because it had the highest cow population in the world!

When Moo Moo was heading back to his home at Moo City, disaster struck. The plane suddenly became as shaky as an earthquake. Cow Airlines was flying over the United States of Cowmerica and was about to crash into the Cowshington Memorial in Cowshington D.C.! Moo Moo was petrified and anxious. All the other cow passengers started running around grunting, “Moo Moo.” The cow attendant spilled chocolate milk all over the cows’ hooves. Moo Moo looked around and witnessed chaos and madness. Even though he felt extremely fearful inside, he had to look within himself to find the courage and confidence to not only help himself but every cow on the plane to survive.

Moo Moo looked around for the cabin parachute. He quickly put one on himself and started helping others put on their parachutes. He threw open the plane door and images of his Mama flashed before his eyes. Oh how he missed her. He looked down thousands of feet below and saw tiny houses stretched across miles of farmland. He turned to the others and gently said, “You guys first, my cow friends.” One by one, the cows listened to Moo Moo and jumped out of the plane. Moo Moo felt so scared but he knew it was the only way out of the plane. After all the cows jumped out, he glided down safely to join them.

Surprisingly, all the cows survived by parachuting out of the plane in the nick of time. Except for nearly avoiding a major disaster, Moo Moo’s journey was a brilliant success! Sometimes when I come across problems and challenges in my own life, it’s easy to just give up. I have to remind myself to look within my heart to find the courage and to overcome my fears and do something that I didn’t think was possible.
Moo Moo's Incredible Journey of Courage

Once there was a cow named MooMoo who always wanted to travel the world. He was an adventurous and curious cow. So one day he boarded Cow Airlines and set off on his journey. Moo Moo visited countless countries and collected numerous stamps on his passport. He journeyed through different countries like Milk-Jugpan, Cowman, Moo-ippines, Calf-nada, and Heiferica. His favorite country was cow-India because it had the highest cow population in the world!

When Moo Moo was heading back to his home Moo City, disaster struck. The plane suddenly became as shaky as an earthquake. Cow Airlines was flying over the United States of Cowmerica and was about to crash into the Cowshington Memorial in Cowshington D.C.! Moo Moo was petrified and anxious. All the other cow passengers... started running around grunting, "Moo Moo." The cow attendant spilled chocolate milk all over the cows' hooves. Moo Moo looked around and witnessed chaos and madness. Even though he felt extremely fearful inside he had to look within himself to find the courage and confidence to not only help himself but every cow or the plane to survive. Moo Moo looked around for the cabin parachutes frantically. He quickly put one on himself and started helping others put on their parachutes. He threw open the plane door and images of his mama flashed before his eyes. Oh how he missed her. He looked down thousands of feet below and saw tiny houses stretched across miles of farmland. He turned to the others and gently said, "you guys first, my cow friends." One by one, the cows listened to Moo Moo and jumped out and of the plane. Moo Moo felt so scared but he knew it was the only way out of the plane. After all the cows jumped out he glided down safely to join them.
Surprisingly, all the cows survived by parachuting out of the plane in the nick of time. Except for nearly avoiding a major disaster, Moo Moo's journey was a brilliant success!

Sometimes when I come across problems and challenges in my own life, it's easy to just give up. I have to remind myself to look within my heart to find the courage and to overcome my fears and do something I didn't think was possible.